NOW READY

PORT ARTHUR

A Monster Heroism

The New York Globe, on Wednesday, said of it: "The clearest, completest, most convincing and altogether most moving narrative of the historic siege yet given to American readers."

By RICHARD BARRY

THIS unusual and remarkable book is, in form, a panorama of marvellously realistic and startlingly vivid pictures, presenting the event in its successive stages, much as the reader might have seen it had he been privileged to camp with Barry just behind the Japanese front. But it is also much more, for it offers, in addition, a concise and tactically exact history of the siege from its beginning.

With 16 illustrations in double tone from Battlefield Snapshots by the Author.

The Flower of Destiny

AN EPISODE OF THE SECOND EMPIRE

By WILLIAM DANA ORCUTT

A CHARMING little romance based on the love-story of Napoleon III. and Eugenie. There are six beautiful illustrations by Charlotte Weber, and the volume is especially distinguished by its decorative scheme in violet—"the flower of destiny" of the Bonapartes.

Price, $1.25

A. C. McCLURG & CO., PUBLISHERS, CHICAGO

"An idyllic and entrancing love story, and destined to prove immensely popular.

"A special word should be said about the excellent make-up of the book. It is printed on beautiful paper in large, clear type, and each page is decorated, and the illustrations, by Charlotte Weber, are such as to enhance the charm of the text.

"It is published by A. C. McClurg & Co., who enjoy the unique distinction of never publishing a slovenly made-up book. In point of mere book-making 'The Flower of Destiny' and 'For the White Christ' certainly surpass any others of this season."

The remarkable feature of this new edition of Stevenson's works is a series of intimate and sympathetic introductions by MRS. STEVENSON, in which she tells of the circumstances under which the books were written. This edition is most attractive in typography, printed on light and thin paper, and is altogether most convenient and practical in its make up.

NOTES IN SEASON.

DODGE PUBLISHING Co., New York, will publish on May 15 a novel entitled "What God Hath (Not) Joined Together," by Orr Kenyon, a strong argument in favor of divorce under certain conditions; "What to Have for Dinner," by Fannie Merritt Farmer, author of the "Boston Cooking School Book," a thoroughly practical book suited to the needs of families of moderate means; also, "How Did You Die," by Edmund Vance Cook, a wall card decorated by Laura A. Humphries.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have just brought out a sprightly and entertaining story, "The Marquise's Millions," by Frances Ay-mar Mathews, author of "My Lady Peggy Goes to Town." It tells of an American girl and her French fiancé and the curious intrigue by which they seek to gain possession of the millions belonging to her rich aunts. The money would come to the girl as sole heir were it not for the fanatical loyalty of the two old ladies to leave all their wealth to the "Nineteenth Louis" whom they are confidently expecting.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish on May 20 "Sons of Men," a group of stories of New Zealand sheep shearers and cattlemen by G. B. Lancaster, a writer of unusual virility and talent, whose work has been compared with that of Kipling's; also, Thomas Dixon, Jr.'s new book, "The Life Worth Living," which the author describes as "an antidote for both the simple and the strenuous life." They will shortly begin the publication of the Garden Library. The first volume will be "Roses and How to Grow Them." This series of little monographs will mark a new era in garden literature. It will be a group of low-priced, practical handbooks on home gardening. Other volumes in preparation are: "The Water Garden," "Chrysanthemums" and "Rhododendrons."

MOFFAT, YARD & Co. publish to-day the long-delayed "Port Arthur: a Monster Heroism," by Richard Barry. The book is, in form, a panorama of marvellously realistic and startlingly vivid pictures, presenting the siege of Port Arthur in its successive stages, much as the reader might have seen it had he been privileged to camp with Barry just behind the Japanese front. But it is also much more, for it offers, in addition, a concise and tactically exact history of the siege from its beginning. The illustrations, with two exceptions, are the product of Mr. Barry's own camera. The frontispiece is a painting by the Russian artist Mazzanovich from Mr. Barry's snap shot of a Japanese detachment springing from cover for a frontal attack.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just brought out Edith Wharton's new book, "Italian Backgrounds," in which the author writes in a most delightful manner of the backgrounds of the familiar Italy—the phases of art and architecture generally overlooked by the conventional sightseer, and for which E. P. Peixotto has made some fine sketches; in the Literary Lives series, the volume on "Ernest Renan," by the Rev. Dr. William Barry, a brilliant and able account of the life and work of an extraordinary man; also, E. W. Hornung's new story, "Stingaree," a series of captivating adventures that throw into relief a daring and delightful character destined to become as popular as the celebrated "Raffles" himself. They will publish next month in the new Biographical edition of the works of Robert Louis Stevenson "Treasure Island," "Familiar Studies of Men and Books," and "Prince Otto," with introductions by Mrs. Stevenson.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

 The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Carey, C: The Van Suyden sapphires. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1905. c. 6+333 p. il. D. cl., †$1.50.

An English actress in quest of notoriety, makes an ingenious plan in which a valuable necklace of rubies is to be apparently stolen from her. She is visiting at the great country home of the Van Suydens and has placed her rubies in the safe of Mrs. Van Suyden. She carries out her plan so far as the disappearance of her rubies, but at the same time Mrs. Van Suyden's priceless sapphires disappear—how she does not know. Of course, a number of persons are suspected and followed before the real thief is discovered—the seemingly most innocent person being the criminal.

One of the old-time Australian bushrangers is pictured in "Stingaree"—a handsome, well-dressed outlaw, with a passion for music, and with as many good deeds to his credit as bad ones. This modern Robin Hood is cleverly introduced as the patron of a young English governess with a beautiful but unappreciated voice. How he obtains a hearing for her and starts her on the road to fame is original and dramatic. The other chapters recording his deeds, do not deal with episodes quite as innocent, and are often nothing more than stories of stealing and murder of the ordinary type.

A stirring mystery story in which the mystery is maintained to the last moment. The financial lives of the richest man in the world and the president of the greatest New York bank hang by a thread. Every week a young man deposits an Assay Office cheque representing gold bullion. The first was for $100,000, the latest for $10,000,000. He refuses to tell where he got the gold or how much more there is to come. The fear is it will become as cheap as silver; then what will happen to the gold-bearing bonds of the bank? And—where does the gold come from?

Giovanni Rosadi, a famous criminal lawyer and parliamentary leader of Italy, writes a new life of Jesus, chiefly from the point of view of his trial and the facts leading up to it. He dwells with sympathetic indignation upon its unfairness and condemns it as a miscarriage of justice, judged merely by the standard of Roman law. He also sees in it the most notable example of the typical injustice of society, striving to protect its selfish interests. The work has already been translated into several languages.

Copyright in Congress, 1789-1904: a bibliography and chronological record of all proceedings in Congress in relation to copyright from April 15, 1789, to April 28, 1904, First Congress, 1st session, to Fifty-eighth Congress, 2d session; prepared by Thorvald Solberg, Wash., D. C., Government Print. Office, 1905. [F.] 2-468 p. Q. (Copyright Office bulletin, no. 8.) cl., 65 c.

Mr. Solberg, who is Register of Copyrights in the Library of Congress, says in a prefatory note: "In the following pages is presented an attempt at a complete bibliography of all the bills relating to copyright which have been introduced to Congress, the resolutions and laws which have been enacted, and those reports, petitions, memorials, messages, and miscellaneous copyright documents which have been printed, together with a complete chronological record of all action taken in Congress in any way relating to the subject of copyright, showing how each proposal has been dealt. In order to make the record as complete as possible, such bills as have been introduced in this present Congress and which are still pending are reprinted in full, with their accompanying reports."

Strong, Isobel. The girl from home: a story of Honolulu. N. Y., McClure, Phillips & Co., 1905. [Ap.] c. 6+297 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

A novel of Hawaii when Kalakaua was king. The love story of a young girl takes her to the unique little kingdom under the guardianship of a gay young widow. The gay life of the island and its gossip, the flirtations of the idle young soldiers and sailors, chiefly younger sons of old English families, the occupations of the natives, etc., are all worked into an ingenious plot.

Waller, M. E. Sanna: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1905. [Ap.] c. 7+399 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The Island of Nantucket is the scene. Sanna lives with her mother and is introduced as a bewitching girl, a wild, romping madcap. The school-teacher of the place has had a mysterious history. He and Sanna have some exciting fights with the elements. His mother is a character who has influenced many. The plot is simple and the descriptions of nature show the talent at word painting of the author of "The woodcarver of 'Lympus'."

Co., 1905. c. 8+495 p. por. D. cl., $2; leath., $2.75.

A successful hotel man drifts into speculation and finally into robbery. Is supposed to give the history of a New York bank robbery that amounted to $2,750,000. The details show very clever and exciting detective work.

Whitson, J. H. Justin Wingate, ranchman; with il. from drawings by Arthur E. Becher. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1905. [Ap.] c. 6+311 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Justin Wingate had been brought as a waif to the house of the minister in Paradise, an almost abandoned spot in Colorado. A physician of means, abandoned by his wife drifts to the spot and stays, undertaking the education of the boy. The agricultural development by irrigation of a Western ranch section and the constant differences between ranchmen and farmers to control the legislature make a virile story. Describes in detail the sufferings of the cattle and the selfishness of the average Western settler. At last the dream of the minister is realized.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

APRIL 29, 1905.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE BOOKSELLERS' CONVENTION.

THE attention of the trade is again called to the convention of the American Booksellers Association, to be held in New York City two weeks hence—May 16 and 17. The Association will meet at the Victoria Hotel, at the corner of Twenty-seventh Street and Broadway, and the hotel will also be the headquarters of the visiting members during the convention. Several questions of interest to the trade will very likely come up for consideration, and it is hoped that a large number will be present to take part in the work to be accomplished. The officers of the Association have already received word from many members out of town, who have not attended any of the previous conventions, that they hope to be present, and nearly every one of the "Old Guard" has also promised to attend.

The Association, though unostentatiously, is steadily working to improve the condition of the whole retail trade, as well as that of its membership, and to that extent deserves the hearty co-operation and support of every bookseller who seriously desires to have the abuses that now beset his profession removed, and who is willing to help in making the reform inaugurated by the publishers' and booksellers' associations an accomplished fact.

The arrangements for the banquet to be held at the Aldine Association on the evening of May 16 have been almost completed, and the prospects are that the affair will be a brilliant one. It is likely that upwards of two hundred members of the trade will be present, and that every branch of the publishing, bookselling and stationery trades will be represented. The list of speakers is a promising one, and the entertainment committee also hope to be able to present to each guest a handsome souvenir of the occasion.

Both from a business and social point of view the convention promises to be a profitable and enjoyable event. The opportunity offered by such a gathering for meeting old friends and making new acquaintances, for comparing notes, and, above all, for gathering fresh inspiration, is an advantage not to be neglected, and those who fail to participate in it will not only fail to do their duty by themselves and their confreres, but will have reason to regret having missed a notable and delightful social gathering.

A CORRESPONDENT of The Dial complains of the practice of book publishers who are proprietors of, or have arrangements with, magazines in publishing works of fiction several instalments in advance of their completion in the magazine. There is considerable justification for the correspondent's plea. It is not quite fair that magazine publication should be discounted in this way, while on the other hand there are reasons why the story should be published complete in book form about the time of its completion in magazine form. Perhaps the best practice is that which used to be the rule, that book publication should be made just previous to the final instalment of periodical publication.

It would seem as though the whole trading-stamp system is falling to the ground at once. From every section of the country reports are coming of the failure of some large trading stamp company. In many places mobs have attacked the stores of these companies and either carried away or destroyed their goods. The wonder is not that these companies are now coming to an ignominious end, but that they ever came to exist at all. No man of sense could have failed to see the weakness—in a number of cases even the downright dishonesty—of these schemes. But the trouble was that in almost every community the unthinking or dull shopkeeper was misled by the example of one or more of his less scrupulous business neighbors, who, "on the quiet," allowed their names to be used for a consideration and at no risk to themselves. These latter, of course, can view the failure of the trading stamp companies with equanimity; but the bona fide "suckers"—the gullible shopkeepers and the public—will have reason to regret the introduction of this sort of "graft" for some time to come.

THE FIRST WOOD ENGRAVER IN AMERICA.

LIGHT upon the life of an early New England genius, John Foster, who seems to have been the first to execute wood engraving on this continent, as well as the first to establish a printing office in Boston, has been thrown by Dr. Samuel A. Green, librarian of the Massachusetts Historical Society. He has, through his researches, made a valuable contribution to local historical literature, in the form of a biographical sketch, embodying much in regard to Foster, who, it appears, was the son of Hopestill Foster, whose Christian name is still borne by a street in Dorchester. John was born in what is now South Boston in 1648, and was graduated at Harvard at the age of nineteen and taught school in Dorchester, several years later establishing his printing office in Boylston Street, near Washington, in 1675.

It has been supposed that Foster did his engraving merely incidental to his printing, but Dr. Green has discovered an old letter showing that he was engraving four years at least before he began printing. A map of New England, which he made in 1677, is inscribed, "The first that ever was cut here." He is known to have engraved a seal of Massachusetts, a very crude portrait of the Rev. Richard Mather, the first of the Mathers, and a view of Boston and Charlestown, from Noddles Island, not an example of which is known to be in existence to-day. He was the author of six almanacs.

Foster died at the early age of thirty-three, in 1681, and his grave, in the old Dorchester Burial Ground, is still marked by two ornate stones, the one at the head bearing the inscription:

THE INGENIOUS
Mathematician & Printer
MR. JOHN FOSTER,
AGED 33 YEARS DYED SEPT'r 9th

A SURVEY OF FRENCH BOOK PRODUCTION IN 1904.

We print below a classified list of the books deposited in 1904 for copyright purposes with the Bureau de la Librairie of the Ministry of the Interior, at Paris. The total, 9281, is 393 less than the number of titles recorded by the Bureau in 1903 and 2858 less than the number of titles recorded in 1904 by the Bibliographie de la France. As pointed out last year the statistics of the Bureau of the Ministry of the Interior represent the more stable element in French book production, while the records of the Bibliographie de la France, as do the records of the trade journals of other countries, include all titles of which they are able to obtain information without regard to their merits as literature. The following table has been prepared from the "Table Systematique," published by the Cercle de la Librairie:

CAN'T COPYRIGHT AN INDIVIDUAL.

THE Librarian of Congress, according to an Associated Press despatch, is in possession of a document, signed by Catherine Cooper, a young woman appearing at the Lyric Theatre, New York, in "Fantana." In this document Miss Cooper applies for a copyright on her stage name. The blanks are all carefully filled out. Miss Cooper describes herself as a musical composition and gives as her authors the name of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Delaney.

The application was accompanied by a letter in which Miss Cooper explains that she had worked too hard to make her stage name worth something to run the risk of having any one else use it. She inclosed the requisite fee for copyright, which was returned to her, with an explanation to the effect that the laws of the United States do not provide for copyrighting titles. Some clerk of the Library of Congress added to this explanation a note in his own handwriting, saying that he would be glad to do what he could in the matter for Miss Cooper if she would comply with the specification which provides that a copy of the composition entered shall be placed on file at Washington. Unfortunately, Miss Cooper isn't twins.

A TOWN BUILT ON A BOOK.

GOODE CITY, near Houston, Tex., is said to be colonized on the plan of a scheme worked out in Bradley Gilman's New England story, "Back to the Soil." The actual experiment in Texas is being made independently of any personal effort on the part of Mr. Gilman; nor has he even met the projectors. The whole plan has grown out of the printed pages of "Back to the Soil," which was printed in 1901 by L. C. Page & Co. The book attracted the attention of one of the editors of the American Farmer, of Indianapolis. On reading it he became deeply impressed, "perceiving," as he said, "what appeared to be one practical solution of a perplexing social problem, as opposed to the many familiar but impossible Utopian schemes which had been tried and cast aside." He published an editorial on the book in his periodical in February, 1901.

Solon L. Goode, the president of the company which publishes the American Farmer, already had in mind the establishing of a colony of some kind in Texas. He saw the editorial and read the book. He soon decided that the general plan worked out by Mr. Gilman was the best solution of the difficulties of the case which he had encountered. So he at once decided to utilize it in his projected colony.

This material experiment with actual people, money, land, houses, streets, roads, farms and crops, has naturally given a new significance to Mr. Gilman's book.

A POET WHO WON'T BE PAID.

THERE is at least one poet alive to whom art is the final end. A. E. Housman, bits of whose verse have been appearing from time to time in McClure's Magazine, consistently refuses to take money for his work. Under the title of "A Shropshire Lad," a tiny volume of his verse was brought out in this country without copyright. McClure's printed fragments, with permission. Their check in payment was returned by Mr. Housman with the information: "I have never taken money for any of my verses." This astonishing person is professor of Latin in University College, London.

STRIKE OF ENGLISH MUSIC PUBLISHERS.

APROPOS of the strike of the English Music publishers, noted in our issue for April 15, we print the following extraordinary document just sent to the press by G. Dixey, the Hon. Secretary of the English Music Publishers' Association:

"At a meeting of the Music Publishers' Association, held on April 7, 1905, at the office of the Association, it was unanimously decided by the under-mentioned firms that in consequence of the present deplorable position of music composers, and of the music publishing and retail trade, brought about by the want of protection against music piracies:

"1. No further new publications shall be issued by any of the firms in question until further notice.

"2. No fresh contracts for payments to artistes and singers of new publications shall be entered into for the present.

"3. No further money shall at present be spent upon newspaper advertisements.

"The undermentioned publishing houses particularly desire to point out that their present attitude is dictated by no hostile spirit towards any person or persons connected with the music trade, or the music profession, but is merely a measure of self-preservation on behalf of the music industry and the music composers.

The London Academy commenting on the situation, and on the refusal of the Home Secretary, Akers Douglas, to introduce into the House of Commons a copyright bill for the prevention of musical piracy, as well as to secure facilities for any private bill, which might be introduced, dealing in the matter, says: "The present condition of the law relating to Musical Copyright is nothing less than iniquitous. Anyone may pirate anything, and sell it openly in the streets—taking no other risk than that of the confiscation of the copies found in his possession, if the owner of the copyright takes proceedings against him. If shoplifters were allowed to practise their nefarious industry, provided that they restored any goods which they were caught carrying away, the parallel would be almost exact; Mr. Akers Douglas would doubtless be the first to hurry through an Act of Parliament altering such a condition of affairs. Because the property that is being daily stolen is only artistic property, he considers that other Bills are very likely of much greater importance than this one, drafted in the interest of common honesty. One wonders what sort of a mind a man can have who talks like that."

STANDARD OIL HELPS MARK TWAIN

HENRY H. ROGERS, according to John S. Gregory, who gives an intimate study of the vice-president and acting executive of the Standard Oil Company in the May issue of The World's Work, has other interests besides making more for himself. He has found time, "for example, to render a distinct service to American literature. The story of his friendship and service for Mark Twain reveals a phase of his character that is little known. It began long before he knew Mr. Clemens.

"Once, years ago, Mr. Rogers read 'Roughing It.' He liked it so much that he read it again. Then he read it to his wife and to his children. He said, 'If I ever have the chance to help the man who wrote it, I will.' And the chance came.

"When Webster & Company (of which Mark Twain was a member) failed, every asset of the famous humorist, including the copyrights of his books, went down in the wreck. It was what is called 'a bad failure.' Mr. Clemens surrendered everything. Not long afterward, he walked into the Murray Hill Hotel one night with Dr. Rice, a well-known New York specialist. A man with a white mustache was seated on a divan.

"There's a man you ought to know," said Dr. Rice, 'and he'd like to know you. That's Henry H. Rogers.'

"Dr. Rice presented Mr. Clemens. Mr. Rogers knew of the Webster failure. He asked permission to be of service. In forty-eight hours he was managing the author's business affairs. He gave his time, worth thousands of dollars a day, to recoup the fortunes of a broken literary man. Into it he put all his business acumen and energy. He found that Webster & Company owed Mrs. Clemens personally $65,000 cash, lent from her own pocket, upon the firm's notes. He made her a preferred creditor, and to secure the claim gave her the copyrights of her husband's books. In this way the books were saved for Mr. Clemens. They have been his principal assets. They were worth more to him than the gift of half a million dollars in cash. Mr. Rogers saw Mr. Clemens safely through these trying business troubles. But he did not stop there. Ever since he has, with a few others, constituted himself a guardian of Mr. Clemens's business affairs. Last year he aided in consummating the deal for the publication of Mark Twain's complete works, which placed the author beyond financial care for the rest of his days. Out of that service has grown an affectionate friendship between the men, remarkable for its contrast—on the one hand, the astute, vigilant man, with his finger always on the business pulse, and on the other, the lovable, dreamy humorist. They meet often, play euchre, and go on yachting trips."

CHILDREN'S SCHOOL BAGS NOT DUTYABLE AS WOVEN FABRICS.

In a decision written by General Appraiser Lunt, the Board of United States Appraisers on the 26th inst., overruled a claim made by Theodore Ollesheimer & Brothers of New York, and held that school bags composed of cotton and jute, with a design in worsted yarn are dutiable under the provision in the Dingley tariff for manufactures of jute, at the rate of 33 cents per pound and 50 per cent. ad valorem. Several claims were made by the importers for lower duty, one of the claims being that the bags are included within the meaning of the term "woven fabrics" as used in the tariff law.

NIGHT AUCTIONS IN NEW YORK.

To hold an auction in New York City at night, according to the Evening Post, a license must be procured from the mayor, who also designates certain papers in which advertisements of such auctions must be inserted. The law heretofore permitted a choice of four papers for these announcements, one of which was the Times, but the mayor has restricted the list to two, and is said to require that the ads. be a certain size. The papers designated are the Sun and News, and this selection is criticised by auctioneers of rare books, paintings, etc.

EXHIBITION OF EARLY BOOKS.

A COLLECTION of early examples of the art of printing, selected from the collection of J. Pierpont Morgan, is to be exhibited through his courtesy in the Columbia University library. The exhibit will be open on May 1. During the first week only officers and students of the university will be received. Beginning with May 8 the exhibition will be thrown open to the general public for not more than two weeks.

Some of the books to be exhibited are: "The Gutenberg Bible." A copy on vellum, "The Psalter of 1459," printed by Fust & Schoefer. A copy on vellum. Wolfram von Eschenbach's "Tyturrell," first edition, 1477.

Richard de Bury's "Philobiblon," Cologne, 1473.

"The Historie of Jason," printed by William Caxton in 1477.

Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales," printed by Caxton in 1484.

"The Book of St. Albans." The first English printed book on field-sports. Printed in St. Albans in 1486.

"Andreas, Super duodecim libros Metaphysicos." Printed in London by Lettoun in 1480. The first book printed in London.

"Expositio S. Jeronimi in Simbolo Apostolorum." First book printed in Oxford, 1478.

Higden's "Polichronicon." Printed by Wynkin de Worde, 1495.

"Promptorius Puerorum," printed by Pynson, in 1499.

"Livius," printed in Venice by de Spira, 1470. Printed on vellum and superbly illuminated for the Duke of Venice.

"Petrarcha." First edition. A copy printed on vellum by de Spira, 1470.

"Augustinus, De Civitate Dei." Printed on vellum by Jenson, in Venice, in 1475, and exquisitely illuminated.

"Recueil des Histoires Troiennes." Printed on vellum by Verard, Paris, 1498, and magnificently illuminated.

"Roman de la Rose." A copy printed on vellum by Verard, in Paris, 1496. Magnificently illuminated.

OBITUARY NOTES.

ORVILLE HITCHCOCK PLATT, United States Senator from Connecticut, one of the most earnest advocates of copyright in Congress, died in Washington, D. C., April 21. Mr. Platt was born in Washington, Conn., July 19, 1827, and was admitted to the bar in 1849. He was connected with the Connecticut legislature from 1855 until 1869, and was United States Senator from 1879 until his death. Mr. Platt's successful advocacy of the International Copyright act, passed in 1891, first brought him conspicuously before the public. He had identified himself shortly after entering the Senate with the effort to stamp out literary piracy, and after a struggle of many years an International Copyright bill was made law, thanks largely to his unremitting labors.

JOSEPH JEFFERSON, one of America's greatest actors, died at West Palm Beach, Fla., April 23. Jefferson was born in Philadelphia, Pa., February 20, 1829. In 1843 he joined a party of strolling actors, and since that time, until a few years ago, was actively and prominently engaged on the stage. His most notable parts were Asa Trenchard in "Our American Cousin," Newman Noggs in "Nicholas Nickleby," Caleb Plummer in "Cricket on the Hearth," Dr. Pangloss in "The Heir at Law," Bob Acres in "The Rivals," and especially, Rip Van Winkle, which he played in every important city in this country, in England and in Australia. His autobiography, published in 1890, by the Century Company, had a wide sale. He also wrote a "Reply to Ignatius Donnelly on the Shakespeare-Bacon Argument," and contributed a number of articles to the magazines on the drama and kindred subjects.

ELBERT HENRY SCRANTON of whose death, on the 13th inst., we made note in our issue for April 22, was born in Rochester, N. Y., June 23, 1838. He was the son of Elbert Scranton, the owner of a mill on South Water Street, whose father, in 1813, went to Rochester as one of its first settlers. The grandfather built the historic log cabin that stood on the site now occupied by the Powers Block. Elbert Henry Scranton received his education at the East Henrietta High School, at that time the leading educational institution in Rochester. After leaving school he entered the employ of D. W. Dewey, the bookseller. Later he was connected with the book business of Steele & Avery. In 1864 he went to Memphis, Tenn., where for three years he was associated with the Blelock Book Company. After returning to Rochester he formed a partnership with Lansing G. Wetmore and started the book and stationery business of Scranton & Wetmore, in the Exchange Place building. Later they removed to the Ellwanger & Barry Building and then removed to the Powers's building. Early in the firm's career Albert C. Walker became a third partner. Mr. Scranton remained actively at the head of the firm until about a year ago when his health began to fail. He possessed a charming personality and was popular with his patrons, associates and employees.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

WITH its issue of May 1, The Dial enters upon the second quarter-century of its existence. Founded in 1880, the paper was issued monthly until 1892, since which time it has appeared semi-monthly. From the beginning, its policy to appraise the important literary output of this country with dignity, intelligence, authority and honesty, has been directed without interruption by the present editor and chief owner, Francis F. Browne. The Dial has been successful from the start, if success be measured by a large share of good work ably performed; whether this work has met with the reward it so richly deserved is another question. We wish our contemporary many more years of life and prosperity.

ARRANGEMENTS have been made to issue in June the first number of a periodical to be entitled The New York Review. The publication, which is to be published every two months, and to be edited by Professors of the Diocesan Seminary at Yonkers, N. Y., has the approval of His Grace Archbishop Farley of New York. The purpose of the Review is mainly apologetic, with special reference to present-day religious and scientific conditions. It is intended to be, as its sub-title indicates, "A Journal of the Ancient Faith and Modern Thought." In character and method, it will be positive and constructive. The objects in view in founding it are: (1) To treat in a scholarly fashion, yet in a manner intelligible to the ordinary cultured mind, topics of interest bearing on theology, scripture, philosophy, and the cognate sciences. (2) To draw attention to the needs of the present intellectual situation in matters of religious belief. (3) To secure the united efforts of the most eminent Catholic scholars, lay and clerical, throughout the world, for the discussion and solution of problems and difficulties connected with religion. (4) To treat, by means of shorter studies, minor topics in scripture, archæology, etc. (5) To keep the readers informed on most recent developments of religious questions, by careful reviews or summaries of important books and publications.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

OTTO FICKER, 45 Nürnbergerstr., Leipzig, is the editor and publisher of a new bibliographical periodical entitled Philologiae Novitates, which undertakes to index monthly the current literature of all nations on philology and the allied branches.

SAMPSON LOW, MARSTON & Co. have just brought out the sixty-eighth annual volume of the "English Catalogue of Books," covering the books published during 1904. The Office of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY will be ready shortly to send out the volume to subscribers in this country.

B. F. STEVENS's "Catalogue-Index of Manuscripts Relating to America, 1763-83," is now completed and bound. This work, upon which the late Mr. Stevens had been engaged for nearly thirty years, is, briefly, a catalog-index of the manuscripts in public and private archives in England, France, Holland, Spain and Germany relating to America and the American Revolution between the Paris treaty of 1763 and the treaty of peace, signed again at Paris in 1783, by which American independence was secured. All the historical manuscripts to which access could be obtained in the countries named were carefully gone through, and note was made of every paper found, with the result that over 161,000 documents are enumerated. The arrangement of the matter is in three divisions: (1) a catalogue or short-title lists of the papers in the order in which they exist in the volumes or bundles in the several archives or collections; (2) a chronological index of all the papers in the first division; and (3) an alphabetical index, containing the names of the authors and the addresses, so arranged that on the one side is shown every paper by each individual writer and to whom it was addressed, and on the other side the name of every individual receiver with the name of the writer. Where no writer is named the document is indexed under its subject-matter. The complete work consists of 180 foolscap folio volumes of from 400 to 500 pages. Its value to Americans as practically the only key at present to the scattered papers containing the history of the American colonies for twenty eventful years must be apparent to all students of that period.

CLEVELAND, TENN.—The Horgin Drug Company, booksellers, etc., have been succeeded by W. O. Haggard & Co.

CUBA, N. Y.—A. A. Lawrence, druggist, who carried a line of books and stationery, has sold out to Lawrence & Merritt.

DANNEBORG, NEB.—J. M. Erickson, bookseller, has sold out to Sorenson & Jensen.

FREMONT, NEB.—D. I. Swihart has sold his book business to D. B. Gilbert.

HAZLETON, PA.—Elizabeth Meyers, bookseller, has been succeeded by George W. Kuech.

HOPE, ARK.—R. H. Eldridge, bookseller, has sold out to O. M. Battle.

HURON, S. D.—M. E. Barker, bookseller, is reported to have made an assignment. His store was burned out recently.

LAWRENCE, MASS.—The William Oswald Company, booksellers, has been succeeded by Reid & Hughes Co.

NEW YORK CITY.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the George V. Blackburne Company, publishers and booksellers, formerly at 114 Fifth Avenue, by Leo J. Tierney, a creditor for $680. It was alleged that the company is insolvent and in this month admitted in writing its inability to pay its debts. The company was incorporated under New York laws in 1900 with a capital stock of $25,000. George V. Blackburne is president.

NEW YORK CITY.—The firm of Smith & Wilkins, dealers in second-hand books, at 207 West 23d Street, will be dissolved on May 1. William H. Smith, Jr., will conduct a catalogue business of second-hand books at 515 West 173d Street, and Mr. Wilkins will continue at the old address.

NEW YORK CITY.—Benedict & Macfarlane, the well-known trading stamp company, is in the hands of a receiver.

PITTSBURG, KAN.—The Syndicate Trading Company has opened a store here which will have a book and stationery department.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

SMITH, ELDER & Co., London, have just brought out a fifth and thoroughly revised edition of Sidney Lee's "Life of Shakespeare."

JOHN MURRAY, London, will publish in May Lady Dilke's "Literary Remains," prefaced by a short memoir by her husband, Sir Charles Dilke.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish next month "The Christian," by Hall Caine, and "For a Maiden Brave," by C. C. Hotchkiss, in their series of Popular Editions of Successful Novels.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY have added to their attractive Pocket Book Series Anna Katharine Green's novel, "The Amethyst Box," which quite equals in fascination her already famous novels of mystery.

THE FUNK & WAGNALLS Co. have just ready "The Gift of the Morning Star," a novel of Dunker life, by Armisted C. Gordon, as remarkable for its beautiful descriptions of nature as for its strong original plot.

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS will publish at once Professor Saintsbury's "Minor Poets of the Caroline Period." They have also nearly ready a work in seven volumes entitled "Corps de Droit Ottoman," by George Young of the British Embassy at Constantinople.

THE CAXTON PRESS, Milwaukee, Wis., have just brought out a second edition of their "Chronological and Alphabetical Record of the Engagements of the Great Civil War," compiled from the Records of the War Department and Confederate Archives at Washington by Charles R. Cooper.

WILLIAM FARQUHAR PAYSON's romantic novelette of Quebec and New Amsterdam in colonial days, "Debonnaire," published by McClure, Phillips & Co., has been dramatized, and will be presented by Paul Gilmore, under the management of Jules Murry, next season, under the title of "Captain Debonnaire." This brings the little story before the public in its original form, as it was first written as a play, and then recast into a novel.

J. F. MEEHAN, of Bath, Eng., has contributed to Coming Modes for May an illustrated article on "Lola Montez—A Queen of Adventure." Lola loomed large in the old and new world, and was a force to be reckoned with in certain European courts—especially in the Bavarian court—in the early half of the nineteenth century. Her days were ended at Astoria, L. I., and she lies buried in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn, N. Y.

ROMAN NIEMCZYK, Calle del Prado, Madrid, has made arrangements to supply the trade with a new and cheaper edition of the "Monumentos Arquitectónicos de España," which the Spanish government began to publish in 1857, but was obliged to suspend in 1881 after the publication of the 89th part. The new edition of this important architectural work will be complete in 200 sections, fourteen of which are now ready.

JOHN LANE, of the Bodley Head, New York, has brought out, in an attractive pamphlet, the article which he contributed to The International Studio on Sir Caspar Purdon Clarke, Kt., recently appointed director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City. Mr. Lane has made a number of additions to his original draft of his personal note on Sir Purdon, whose departure from England he regards as a national loss.

THE recent books of A. S. Barnes & Co. are meeting with recognition not only in England, but on the Continent as well. A German publisher has written from Stuttgart to arrange for a German translation of A. Cahan's "The White Terror and the Red," and La Vie Illustrée of Paris is printing serially a translation of Alfred Henry Lewis's notable story of New York politics, "The Boss." The story will also be brought out in Paris in book form.

THE STITT PUBLISHING COMPANY, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York, will publish on May 15 a popular cloth bound edition of Anthony Hope's novel, "Rupert of Hentzau," with four full-page illustrations by Gibson. Later they will publish a similar edition of the same author's "Prisoner of Zenda." These books are printed from the plates of the original editions, and are put up in attractive cloth bindings. Their edition of Paul Leicester Ford's "The Honorable Peter Stirling" is selling well and is nearly exhausted.

DODD, MEAD & Co. announce an important work on "The Art of Organ Building," by George Ashdown Audsley, author of "The Ornamental Arts of Japan," etc. The work is described as "a comprehensive historical, theoretical, esthetical and practical treatise on tonal appointment and mechanical construction of concert-room, church and chamber organs." It will be in two volumes, in an edition de luxe limited to 300 copies and an ordinary edition, and will be fully illustrated.

BRENTANO's have just ready a reprint of "The Lunatic at Large" by J. Storer Clouston, a story full of humorous complications and unusual situations, published several years ago by D. Appleton & Co. in their Town and Country Library. The interest of the book centres around a well-to-do Englishman, who, owing to illness, has temporarily forgotten his own identity. This edition is published by arrangement with the author, and with his sanction and approval.

HERBERT B. TURNER & Co. will publish about May 10 a novel entitled "The Storm of London," by F. Dickson, which pictures London in a state of absolute nudity. The book is now in its seventieth thousand in London, and is causing much comment. They have secured the American rights for Mr. Archibald Marshall's "The House of Merrilees" and announces its coming publication. Its author's first book, "Peter Binney, Undergraduate," was a pleasant whimsey, carried out something in the manner of Mr. Anstey, but with sufficient originality. The second is in an entirely different style, for such is the fashion of the day.

THE OLIVER DITSON COMPANY, Boston, has added an interesting volume to their excellent Musicians' Library in "Twenty-four Negro Melodies," transcribed for the piano by S. Coleridge-Taylor, a gifted English negro composer. The volume contains a sketch of Coleridge-Taylor and an estimate of his work by Booker T. Washington. They have added to the same series a volume of "Selections from the Music Dramas of Richard Wagner," arranged for the piano by Otto Singer. This is prefaced by a sketch of Wagner and his music dramas by Richard Aldrich, a bibliography and an autograph facsimile of Wagner's programme note to the "Tristan" Prelude.

DR. S. WEIR MITCHELL's new novel, "Constance Trescot," has followed so closely upon his "Youth of Washington" that the public may get the idea that Dr. Mitchell is a rapid writer; but the facts are quite the reverse. Dr. Mitchell has rewritten "Constance Trescot" three times in the past three years. The manuscript was put into type for the first time two years ago, and a single set of page proofs was struck off on "large paper" and bound up for the author, who worked for a year on these page proofs. So many changes were made that the book was entirely reset before issue. Dr. Mitchell believes that "Constance Trescot" contains the best work he has done or will ever do.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & Co., Philadelphia, will issue shortly "The Industrial Problem," by Lyman Abbott, being the William L. Bull lectures for 1905; "The American Crisis Biographies," edited by Ellis Paxton Oberholtzer, with advice of John B. McMaster, of University of Philadelphia; "David G. Farragut," by John R. Spears, author of "History of Our Navy," and "Family Prayers," by Lyman P. Powell, a brief yet comprehensive book for guidance in family worship. In lighter vein the firm announces "The Girl and the Deal," by Karl Edwin Harriman, the story of a railroad courtship, nearly the entire action being covered by a business trip from Boston to San Francisco.

MCCLOUD, PHILLIPS & Co. have just ready a new book by the author of "Letters from a Chinese Official," who turns out to be G. Louis Dickinson, of Cambridge University. The volume is entitled "Religion—a Criticism and a Forecast," and deals, from a new point of view, with the questions of what a man can believe at the present day in orthodox Christianity. They have also just issued an inexpensive portfolio, containing half a dozen portraits of noted authors of the day—Charles Wagner, A. Conan Doyle, Henry Harland, Stewart Edward White, Finley Peter Dunne and Booth Tarkington. The pictures were drawn by the well-known English artist, Scotson-Clark, and are in imitation of the style of the old wood cut.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. publish to-day "A Knot of Blue," by William R. A. Wilson, author of "A Rose of Normandy," a romance abounding in intrigue, adventure and the joy of living and achieving, with illustrations by Ch. Grunwald; "On the Firing Line," by Anna Chapin Ray and Hamilton Brockfuller, a story of South Africa during the Boer war; also, "As the World Goes By," by Elisabeth W. Brooks, an emotional novel with a strong musical and dramatic interest. They will publish next month "Curly, a Tale of the Arizona Desert," by Roger Pocock, author of "Following the Frontier," with illustrations by Stanley L. Wood; also, "The Wierd Picture," by John R. Carling, author of "The Shadow of the Czar," an ingenious romance in which the realistic work of a frenzied artist is the main theme.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have just published a story of English life during the Restoration, entitled, "The King in Exile," by Eva Scott, in which the author tells of the wanderings of Charles II. from June, 1646 to July, 1654. They will bring out shortly a cheap edition of Sir Horace Plunkett's "Ireland in the New Century," in which the author pleads for industrial and national development in Ireland rather than for constitutional change. They also announce a third reprint of Leo Deutsch's "Sixteen Years in Siberia." Since this book appeared a year and a half ago it has been published in French, German, Italian, Dutch, Polish and Bulgarian, while the original Russian has been printed in Switzerland and smuggled into Russia. In an appendix to the new edition is given the correspondence between Prince Bismarck and the Russian government relative to the arrest of Deutsch before he was sent to Siberia.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY have just ready "Charles the Chauffeur," by S. E. Kiser, a humorous romance of the automobile that recently appeared serially in the "Sunday Magazine" supplement of the New York Tribune, the Chicago Record-Herald, Philadelphia Press and other papers, where it attracted unusual attention and favorable comment. The book is a characteristic example of Mr. Kiser's good-natured humor that has won him so many friends through his prolific newspaper contributions. It is a pleasing story of an ignorant, intrepid chauffeur naively told in his own words. How he prospered in his attachment for the beautiful, rich young widow, of whom he is the pride and pet, their hair-raising adventures, and his final downfall are characteristically and amusingly set forth. The book abounds in original situations, is deliciously flavored with clever satire, and is one that will be enjoyed by motorist and victim alike. The illustrations, in black and white, are spirited and interesting.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish next month in Our Asiatic Neighbors series a volume on "Chinese Life in Town and Country," by E. Bard, who, it is said, has seen China and the Chinese "with the eyes of a man of affairs," and whose work has been adapted for the series by H. Twitchell; also, a second series of Paul Elmer Morse's "Shelbourne Essays," which will contain essays on the Elizabethan and Shakespearean sonnets, an essay on the late Lafcadio Hearn, which first appeared in The Atlantic Monthly, and other papers dealing with prominent English and American literary figures. They will bring out in June in the Heroes of the Reformation series "Balthazar Hübmaier, the Leader of the Anabaptists," by Professor Henry C. Vedder, of the Crozer Theological Seminary; also in their French Classics for English Readers a volume of the best essays of Montaigne, reprinted from the version of Floris, 1603, edited by Dr. Adolphe Cohn and Professor Curtis Hidden Page, both of Columbia University. They have secured the work by the late John P. Davis, of Nampa, Idaho—a study of corporations from the historical point of view. It will appear this spring in two volumes, which are being seen through the press by Mrs. Davis, who has also prepared the index. They will also bring out in this country a new novel by F. Frankfort Moore, entitled "Love Alone is Lord," dealing with the romance of Lord Byron and his cousin, Mary Chaworth.

PICK-UPS.

HE KNEW BETTER.—Grant Duff tells an amusing story apropos of Sir Donald Mackenzie Wallace, who many years ago found himself at a club in Edinburgh, where he fell into conversation about Russia with a youth who put forward some views in which he could not acquiesce. "Oh," said this personage, "It is all very well for you to say that you do not agree with me, but I know all about it. I have just been reviewing Wallace's 'Russia.'" "And I have just been writing it," was the natural reply. The young man lived to be very famous; he was R. L. Stevenson.

A PUBLISHER'S LITTLE JOKE.—In Edmund Downey's "Twenty Years Ago" it is related that when one of Dowling's Christmas tales had sold very well, Tinsley, the publisher, thought he might be pardoned for "taking a rise" out of the author. He introduced Dowling to a stranger at the Gaiety, and then whispered to him, "Dick, my boy, do your best to make yourself agreeable to our friend; he is the largest buyer of those Christmas stories of yours. I must be off." Dowling spoke for a while on general topics to the stranger, and at last he ventured on the subject of books. "I suppose you know," he said, "that I am the unfortunate man who wrote Tinsley's last annual?" "Yes, I recognize your name, Mr. Dowling," said the stranger. "Mr. Tinsley tells me you are a large buyer of books," said Dowling. "Yes, I buy a lot of stuff of one kind or another. I am a waste-paper merchant."

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplaced, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

*Ready May 15What God Hath (Not) Joined

By ORR KENYON. $5\frac{1}{8} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$. Cloth.
Illustrated. $1.50.

THIS is a notable novel, as it deals with the divorce problem in a new manner. It contains a strong argument in favor of divorce under certain conditions. Woven around this theme is a charming tale of love interspersed with the rich humor, sound advice and philosophy of a country judge, Cabel Koons. This book unquestionably will receive wide attention from the press and pulpit.

What to Have for Dinner

By FANNY MERRITT FARMER, author of the "Boston Cooking School Cook Book." $5\frac{1}{8} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$. Cloth. Illustrated. \$1.50.

THIS is the second in our series of cook books by prominent writers of which "What to Have for Luncheon," by Mary J. Lincoln, was the first. Miss Farmer's new book is thoroughly practical and suited to the needs of families of moderate means. The menus are carefully arranged by the author and will save the housekeeper many a perplexing hour. As an authority Miss Farmer stands without a superior, and is well known for her painstaking and thorough work. The book will be illustrated with many colored illustrations which will greatly add to the value of the work.

READY IN MAYTHE AMERICAN CATALOG

¶ The American Catalogue, issued heretofore in quarto volumes, will be succeeded by the new American Catalog in octavo size, of which the first volume covering the five years, January, 1900, to January 1, 1905, is nearly ready. It will be continued by a corresponding publication every five years hereafter.

¶ It will be a final cumulation of the titles given in the Publishers' Weekly system of record by author, title, subject and series entries, including titles issued during those years but not entered in the year of publication. Under this system author entries are designated by full-face type, title entries by ordinary Roman lower-case, subject entries by small caps, and series entries by italics, so that the system has the advantages of the dictionary catalog with the advantages of distinctive author, title, subject, and series alphabets. Each entry gives author's name with initials, title, date of publication, series name, size, price, and publisher. Thus the leading facts regarding the book are put immediately at the service of the seeker.

¶ This volume takes the place this year of the "Annual American Catalog" which will be resumed in 1906.

¶ If demand should justify, and not otherwise, it is proposed to complement this Five-year Catalog with a second or supplementary volume, including the full-title entries with annotations given in the Weekly Record of the Publishers' Weekly, cumulated into an alphabet for each year, i. e., into five alphabets. This is planned to answer the demand of such libraries, book-dealers, and others who want the full material of the Publishers' Weekly bibliographical system in available shape.

¶ Both volumes will be substantially bound in half morocco, similar to the old American Catalog. The price will be $10 for the two together, or $6 for either separately. Intending subscribers are especially requested to send in orders promptly, stating whether both volumes are desired or only the first.

¶ The first volume will be ready for delivery in May, and the second volume, if demanded, later in the year. The edition will in both cases be limited to the indicated demand.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX, 1904

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book Chapters, etc., with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of the Library Journal staff.

A Useful Work of Reference for Librarian, Bookseller and the General Reader

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX contains: (1) The index to periodical literature for the year 1904, making the third annual supplement to "Poole's Index to Periodical Literature," 1897-1902; (2) An index to essays and book-chapters in composite books of 1904, making the fourth annual supplement to the new edition of Fletcher's "A. L. A. Index to General Literature," published in 1901; (3) An author index, both to periodical articles and to book-chapters; (4) A list of bibliographies issued in 1904; (5) A necrology of authors for 1904, extremely useful to catalogers; (6) An index of dates of events in 1904, furnishing a useful guide to the daily press.

A SOLUTION OF THE QUESTION.

"Summer Bookselling."

While to most people summer means a season of recreation or loafing, to the bookseller it means increased activity and watchfulness to maintain the continuity of business and to bridge over until the fall season brings relief. If ever the book business requires a thorough knowledge on the part of the principal and his clerks of the character of their constituency, their movements and their likes and their needs, it is in the season during which the traveller, away from home and from the source of supplies, is most dependent upon those who serve him—whether with the necessities or the luxuries of life.

One of the most important aids in pushing business during the "dull" season is a tempting catalogue of books suitable for shore and mountain reading, such as is prepared by this office in "SUMMER READING." It is prepared with the view of bringing to the special attention of summer visitors the classes of books in which they are most likely to be interested, and of giving attractive foretastes of the delights stored in them.

"SUMMER READING" will be ready June 1st, for the twenty-eighth year, and may therefore be looked upon as a regular feature of the trade. With a new and attractive cover, bearing the special imprint of the dealer, it is adapted for circulation all through the summer, and that, too, at a price which will enable the bookseller with even the most restricted income to make at least a trial of securing trade through its means. The terms for editions with imprint are as follows:

100 copies,	$3 50
250 "	8 00
500 "	15 00

Orders for imprint editions should be sent at once, as the edition is limited to the number of copies ordered in advance.

THE MARQUISE'S MILLIONS

By FRANCES AYMAR MATHEWS

A sprightly and most entertaining story of an American girl and her French fiancé and the curious intrigue by which they seek to gain possession of the millions belonging to her rich aunts. The money would come to the girl as sole heir were it not for the fanatical loyalty of the two old ladies to the royal house of Louis and their determination to leave all their wealth to the "Nineteenth Louis" whom they are confidently expecting. The plot is sparkling and decidedly original, and the situations are well developed, with many touches of humor.

THE GIFT OF THE MORNING STAR

By ARMISTEAD C. GORDON

The story tells of an inward struggle, and the plot is constructed on strong lines. The hero recognizes an inherited weakness of character and overcomes it—"He that overcometh . . . I will give him the morning star." The novel is notable for its sincerity, its beautiful descriptions of nature, its satisfying conversations, and its splendid characterizations, as well as for its strong, original plot.

"Letters from a Chinese Official"

ENTITLED

A Criticism and a Forecast

You all know the discussion that has raged concerning the identity of the anonymous author of "Letters From a Chinese Official." For a long time we were under obligation to conceal the real identity of the writer of that brilliant book, but we are now able to announce that he is G. Lowes Dickinson of Cambridge University, England.

We now bring to your attention a new book by the same author, a book marked by the same qualities, and destined to achieve the same success. Just as the "Chinese Official" dealt with remarkable clearness and from a wholly new point of view, with the defects of our boasted Western civilization, so this new book deals with the great questions of which a man can believe at the present day in orthodox Christianity. It is, in short, a statement of

The GIRL FROM HOME By Isobel Strong

A novel of Hawaii when Kalakaua was king, centering around the picturesque court life of that unique little island kingdom. Miss Strong has brought out the full interest and flavor of this strange country. She makes the love story of a young girl, who comes alone to the island from California, the vehicle for her entertaining picture of island life.
